

Senior Sustainability Consultant, Climate & Data (80-100%, m/f/d), Zurich

Sustainserv is a leading global sustainability management consulting firm based in Switzerland, the US and Germany. We are looking for a Senior Sustainability Consultant, Climate Strategy & Data Services for our office in Zurich, Switzerland. Our new team member will lead and help shape a variety of projects related to strategy, action planning, monitoring and reporting on climate issues and other corporate sustainability issues. In doing so, you will work for a variety of clients, ranging from small and medium-sized enterprises to large multinational corporations.

These are your tasks

- You manage and design a variety of projects in sustainability consulting. Your focus will be on climate protection and other environmental topics.
- In close collaboration with our teams world-wide as well as external partners, you will drive the further development of our consulting approach to environmental and climate protection and the tools for collecting and analyzing ESG data.
- You develop data-based solutions for our customers to support the development of integrated climate strategies and targets (including Science-Based Targets, SBTs). This includes approaches to manage related risks and opportunities in the business context.
- You give strategic and practical guidance to other project managers in the team on environmental and climate services.
- You support our sustainability reporting projects by optimizing the process for analysis and evaluation of ESG data.
- You help to further develop or acquire tools for the collection and analysis of ESG data.
- You help us to ensure continuous improvement and quality management.
- You lead marketing and sales activities for our environmental and climate services as part of our overall marketing and sales initiatives.

These are your qualifications

- Master's or Bachelor's degree in engineering, natural or environmental sciences
- Approx. 5 years of relevant professional experience, for example in the fields of climate strategy consulting or corporate sustainability management
- Solid experience in project management and the independent management of projects
- Impeccable oral and written German skills, as well as business fluent English skills

What you bring with you

- Extensive knowledge in the field of environmental and climate protection
- Ability to learn new and complex topics and draw meaningful conclusions from a variety of data
- Strong presentation skills and the ability to communicate complex topics in a way that is appropriate for the target audience
- Ability to handle multiple client projects simultaneously
- Ability to build strong customer relationships
- High quality standards
- An affable and communicative personality as well as a structured and solution-oriented way of working

This gives you a clear advantage

- Practical experience with energy and CO₂ balancing as well as the development of Science-Based-Targets (SBTs)
- Knowledge of best practices and trends in climate and environmental protection and sustainability management
- Knowledge for the implementation of TCFD recommendations
- Experience in environmental or risk management on the corporate side or in a management consulting firm with a focus on climate issues, the environment and sustainability

What you can expect from us

- To be at the forefront of a dynamic field and making an active contribution to how companies address climate change and other sustainability-relevant topics
- To be part of a motivated, committed and international team that approaches corporate sustainability in a holistic and interdisciplinary way
- Working with exciting clients in long-term relationships
- Working in a network instead of hierarchies
- Help shape a growing company where every team member's contribution counts
- Work in our attractive office in the center of Zurich and profit from flexible work time incl. part-time home office options
